The 18 – Civil War Exhibit

After the Civil War ended, the 18 volunteers from St. Louis County who survived returned to Duluth and were instrumental in fostering the growth of the county. Some names are more recognizable, such as Leonidas Merritt, who walked together with Uriah S. Ayers from Duluth to St. Paul to enlist in 1864.

All 18 volunteers are covered in this eight-panel exhibit, before, during, and after the Civil War. The story begins with the establishment of Duluth after the signing of the Treaty of la Pointe.

8 framed panels – 26 inches x 50 inches

Easily transportable
